RESEARCH

COVID drugs sale - HCQ, The research paper explores COVID-19 and the potential use of hydroxychloroquine (HCQ) as a treatment. It highlights the global impact of the virus, the drug's possible effectiveness, and the challenges faced in exporting it from India due to unclear procedures, possibly leading to concerns about counterfeit drugs.

Education's impact on crime and vice versa, This research paper looks at how education can affect crime and how crime can also influence education. It explores how schooling and learning might change someone's likelihood of getting involved in crime, and vice versa-how being involved in crime might affect someone's education. It's all about understanding how these two things are connected.
